Dear Friend:

Sister McKay joins in this note to thank you for the delicious citrus fruits, and to express appreciation of the friendship that prompted you to gladden our Yuletide Season by sending this treat.

The passing of another Christmas is a forcible reminder that "Years rush by us like the wind," and in passing stealthily beguile us of youthful vigor.

But neither Time nor Trouble can rob the ever-youthful soul of the joys of Friendship.

May it gladden our hearts all through the New Year!

Cordially and sincerely,

David O. McKay

Dear Friend:

Christmas Nineteen Hundred Sixty Two, in many ways, was the best ever! Your choice gift contributed to its joyousness.

Mrs. McKay joins me in thanking you for your remembrance, and in expressing appreciation of your Friendship.

The poet Milton, perceiving the approach of a new day dispelling the darkness of night, wrote:

"Now morn, her rosy steps in th' eastern clime Advancing, sow'd the earth with orient pearl."

So the world might say of Christmas Nineteen Hundred Sixty Two. The darkness of Hatred, of Atheistic philosophy that blinded a group of misguided men who built the Berlin Wall, still continues to disturb the quiet of those who would heed the Divine message,

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

But Nineteen Hundred Sixty Two has shown the promise of the coming of a Time of better understanding, when "men shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks: when nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

Page Two

Christmas Nineteen Hundred Sixty Two, has seen it more difficult for nations to war against nations; less difficult to go to one another and talk things over. It is true that this condition exists because of fear of the holocaust of an Atomic conflict, but in most men's hearts there is hope and a sincere desire for Peace.

Thank you again for contributing to a Joyous Christmas, and may you have a Happy New Year.

Cordially and sincerely,

David O. M. Kay

Dear Brother Coleman:

Christmas Nineteen Hundred Sixty Three is now remembered with the thousands of other Christmases of the past; but the Good Will, Renewed Friendship, and Loving Associations of this Holiday Season still remain as cherished soul possessions.

Your thoughtful gift of delicious oranges was a contributing factor to a most Joyous Christmas.

Sister McKay joins me in saying "Thank You", and in expressing appreciation for your friendship and kind remembrance.

Cordially and sincerely,

Dear Brother and Sister Coleman:

Of all the Holidays in the year, Christmas brings the most Joy and Happiness to our hearts. It is then that we catch a glimpse of what this world could be if good will and true fellowship governed always the hearts and actions of men.

This Christmas has been particularly joyous for Sister McKay and me because we had most of our children and grandchildren around us. Your greetings and friendship that prompted the sending of your thoughtful gift of delicious oranges added much to the brightness and gladness of our Holiday Season.

Sister McKay joins me in saying "Thank You" for your friendship and gracious remembrance!

May the New Year bring you and your Loved Ones happiness and peace in abundance.

Cordially and sincerely,

David O. McKay

Dear Brother Coleman:

It was more than generous of you to send me the box of choice citrus fruit, and I am sure that Sister Moyle and I will enjoy it very much. May I take this opportunity to extend our best wishes for a happy and prosperous new year?

Sincerely yours

Dear Morris:

PERSONAL

This will acknowledge with sincere gratitude and appreciation your thoughtful Christmas remembrance of a choice carton of navel oranges. We are enjoying them tremendously! There isn't anything in citrus that compares to Arizona production.

Again, our sincere thanks.

Sister Stapley joins me in wishing to you and your family much joy and happiness throughout the New Year.

Very cordially,

Delbert L. Stapley

Dear Morris:

This will acknowledge and thank you very kindly for the two cartons of delicious navel oranges delivered to us for our Christmas enjoyment.

We are especially pleased with the friendship and love which motivated this kind Christmas remembrance. There is nothing can touch an Arizona navel orange in flavor and sweetness.

We trust you and family enjoyed a happy Christmas Season. We earnestly pray for your good health; also for the happiness of yourself and family during 1963.

I would hope our paths might cross one of these days so I can personally thank you for this gift of fruit.

With deep appreciation for your friendship and for the joy that friendship brings us, I am

Sincerely your friend and brother,

Dear Morris:

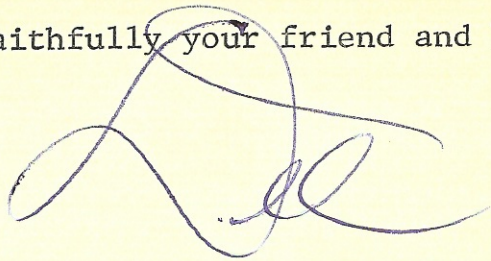

This past week I received a shipment of sweet juice oranges which my brother, Dutch, ordered for me. They came through in good condition, and with the shipment was a carton of choice tangerines which are some of the choicest and sweetest I have ever eaten. You were very thoughtful and generous to include with your compliments the carton of tangerines. I have shared some with my friends and they have labeled them tasty and delicious. Thanks again for your kindness.

I had instructed Dutch to have shipped to me Valencia oranges, but the fact sweets were forwarded indicates perhaps the Valencias are not ready for shipment because of your late winter.

When the present shipment is used up, I will have some Valencias sent to me.

With cordial good wishes, I am

Faithfully your friend and brother,

Dear President Coleman:

This letter is to express gratitude for your great service in the Maricopa North Stake and for helping to build this stake to one of the greatest in the Church.

I appreciated the hospitality of you and your wife.

We were pleasantly and happily surprised to find the case of oranges. We do appreciate your thoughtfulness.

It was a great experience to go from winter to the lovely climate of Arizona and there enjoy the weather as well as to be spiritually fed. I look forward to being with you again.

We express Season's Greetings.

Sincerely,

Dear Morris:

First, I am sorry to have missed your call at our home the other day. My wife said she enjoyed a very pleasant visit with you.

Thanks so much for the carton of pink grapefruit and a carton of oranges. You are very kind and thoughtful -- we are most appreciative.

I haven't received an invoice as yet covering the recent shipment of grapefruit and oranges. If I knew what the amount is, I would send you a check. The shipment was received over a month ago. I believe there was approximately 101 cartons. I have received many fine compliments for the quality of the citrus.

An invoice covering the shipment will be gladly received and promptly paid.

Thanks much for your friendship and support.

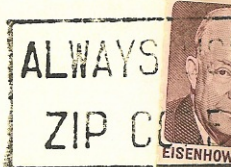

Faithfully your friend and brother,

Delbert L. Stapley

Dear President Coleman:

It was a special experience to be assigned to the Mesa Arizona Maricopa North Stake this past weekend. One of the highlights was becoming acquainted with you and President Porter and President Russell, each of whom I regard as an outstanding leader. Together you make a strong stake presidency.

It was a great pleasure to become acquainted with your family and to hear your thoughtful and excellent remarks on Saturday evening. It was a special treat to have a relaxing hour together with your wives in the home of President and Sister Russell.

I pray our Heavenly Father's choice blessings to continue to be with you.

Sincerely your brother,

Dear Brother Coleman:

Much has happened, and we have been many places since attending the rededication services for the Mesa Temple. However, we have not forgotten your kindness to us.

Sister Kimball joins me in expressing appreciation for the delicious mandarin oranges which you and Brother Brinton presented to us as we left to come home. We shared them with members of our family. I don't think I have ever tasted sweeter oranges anywhere. Please accept our gratitude and our prayers for your continued success. Please also extend our love and best wishes to your family.

Faithfully yours,

President
